Report on Visit to Anka Samudra Birds Sanctuary and Back Water Area of Tungabhadra Reservoir as a part of Study:

The Staff and Students of the Department of Zoology visited the only bird's sanctuary Anka Samudra of Ballari District and Back water area of Tungabhadra Reservoir on 10/03/2019 with aim to undertake field study as a part of syllabus. About 03 staff members and 60 final year BSc students took part in it. On this occasion, a rally was undertaken in all the streets of Anka Samudra Village to create awareness among the people regarding protection of environment, water, migratory birds and ponds. Around 150 villagers also participated in the rally along with the students and staff. The students shouted slogans pertaining to the preservation of various sources of nature by holding placards in their hands. This rally indeed succeeded in awakening the public who shown least concern for the preservation of water and local and migratory birds. Also the students and staff visited the spots of bird sanctuary and studied diversity of both local and migratory birds.
